Honor Minors

Currently training at the Boston Conservatory at Berklee, I am a second year dance college student. I have been creating for a large portion of my life, including choreographing, painting, editing, directing and writing.

My dance films tend to explore themes of identity and vulnerability within movement, and creating narratives for my audience to experience. My visual media is almost always a reflection of my environments and culture; my paintings tend to highlight Bermuda's scenery and surroundings, whilst also framing my identity.
